

Brenda Crayton is an educator with more than thirty plus years of experience with Dallas ISD and other districts. Brenda has worked as an artist and storyteller for several years with the Big Thought program. She is currently working with the Tackle Tomorrow/I station reading program to bridge the gap among readers in the early childhood grades. Brenda's hobbies include reading, writing, sketching, scrapbooking and photography. She loves walking and bike riding. She also loves spending time with family, friends and loved ones.

