

David Elliott

A south Texas native, David is an entrepreneur who primarily engages in real estate, agriculture, and oil and gas investments; however, his deep passion is working in the addiction recovery community.

Personally attending a successful long-term treatment program inspired David to “pay it forward” and open a rehab center of his own. Burning Tree was founded by David in 1999, and now has facilities in Kaufman and Elgin, Texas. Burning Tree continues to effectively serve clients suffering from alcohol and drug addiction.

David remains an active part of the recovery community by supporting several addiction treatment-based organizations, and has been happily involved with Tackle Tomorrow for 2 years.